- Your Comment: Marriott owns four hotels in Santa Fe, La Posada (157) rooms, Fairfield Inn (81) rooms, Residence Inn (120) rooms and Courtyard (209) rooms They do NOT need another hotel in one of the most congested parts of town, my neighborhood with no real access. With hotel occupancy rates around 60-70% according to the Rocky Mountain Lodging Report, why are you all just selling out this town? With dwindling water access and basically a constant drought situation in NM why would you allow another hotel in a saturated market. There are four hotels within 3-5 blocks of this location anyway, at all price points. Also, you have a worker shortage crisis because the little guy can not afford housing. We elected a new Mayor and City Council to stop this crap and make this city more livable for locals, affordable and maybe regain some of its Integrity.
